2015 Schedule M706Q Instructions

Purpose of Schedule M706Q

Schedule M706Q allows the estate of a decedent dying after June 30, 2011 to make an election to deduct qualified small business or qualified farm property from the Minnesota adjusted taxable estate. The deduction cannot exceed $3,600,000 for estates of decedents dying in 2015. Qualified heirs must pay a recapture tax if a qualified heir fails to own the property or if a family member fails to use the property for a qualified use during the three years after the decedent's death.

Who Should File

An estate may be eligible for this deduction if:

- the decedent died after June 30, 2011;
- the estate is required to file Form M706;
- the value of the Minnesota adjusted taxable estate includes qualified small business or qualified farm property;
- for the small business property deduction, the estate and all qualified heirs agree that a family member will materially participate in the operation of the trade or business for three years following the decedent's death;
- for the farm property deduction, the estate and all qualified heirs agree that a family member will maintain 2a property classification for three years following the decedent's death; and
- the estate and all qualified heirs agree not to dispose of any interest in the qualified property other than to a family member during the three years following the decedent's death.

When to File

File Schedule M706Q with Form M706.

Required Attachments

You must attach the following to Form M706Q:

- Documentation demonstrating decedent's continuous ownership of the qualified property for the three-year period prior to decedent's death.
- If the deducted property is qualified small business property, a complete copy of the decedent's federal income tax return, schedules, and attachments for the three taxable years ending prior to the decedent's death (including the taxable year of death).

- If the deducted property is qualified farm property, a copy of the decedent's property tax statements for the taxable year of death.

Assembly Required

See Form M706 instructions for how to assemble the required information.

Line Instructions

Part 1 - Qualified Small Business Property Requirements

The estate must complete the federal Form 706 and Minnesota Form M706 to determine if the value of the qualified property is included in the decedent's federal adjusted taxable estate. The federal adjusted taxable estate is after deductions, including debts, expenses and bequests to a surviving spouse.

Material participation is described in section 469 of the Internal Revenue Code. The existence of material participation is a factual determination that generally requires regular, continuous, and substantial involvement in the operations of the trade or business activity. A passive activity within the meaning of section 469(c) of the Internal Revenue Code does not constitute material participation.

If the estate answers "no" to any of the questions in Part 1, stop here: the estate is not eligible to claim the small business property deduction. If the estate answers "yes" to all questions in Part 1, the estate may be eligible to claim the small business property deduction. Continue to Part 3.

(M.S. 291.03, subd. 9)

Part 2 - Qualified Farm Property Requirements

The estate must complete the federal Form 706 and Minnesota Form M706 to determine if the value of the qualified property is included in the decedent's federal adjusted taxable estate. The federal adjusted taxable estate is after deductions, including debts, expenses and bequests to a surviving spouse.

Minnesota law, in general, bars corporations, limited liability companies, pension or investment funds, trusts, and limited partnerships from farming, owning, or leasing farmland in Minnesota. To meet the requirements of the qualified farm property deduction, the land cannot be owned by an entity that is prohibited from owning agricultural land under section 500.24 of Minnesota Statutes.

Class 2a agricultural land consists of parcels of property, or portions thereof that are agricultural land and buildings. Class 2a land may be homestead or non-homestead depending on ownership, occupancy, and active farming scenarios.

To meet the requirements of qualified farm property, the property must be classified as class 2a agricultural land. If the property has multiple property classifications and the county assessor can practically separate the acreage of each classification type, then only the acreage that is attributable to class 2a can be claimed for the farm property deduction.

To meet the requirements of qualified farm property, the property must be classified as the agricultural homestead, agricultural relative homestead, or special agricultural homestead. If the property has multiple homestead classification and the county assessor can practically separate the acreage of each classification type, then only the acreage that is attributable to the agricultural homestead, agricultural relative homestead, or special agricultural homestead can be claimed for the farm property deduction."

If the estate answers "no" to any of the questions in Part 2, stop here: the estate is not eligible to claim the farm property deduction. If the estate answers "yes" to all questions in Part 2, the estate may be eligible to claim the small business property deduction. Continue to Part 3.

(M.S. 291.03, subd. 10)

Part 3 - Qualified Heirs and Family Members Requirements

A "family member" means:

- an ancestor of the decedent (parent, grandparent, etc.);
- the decedent's spouse;
- a lineal descendant (child, grandchild, etc.) of the decedent, of the decedent's spouse; or of the decedent's parents;
- the spouse of any lineal descendant described above; or
- a trust whose present beneficiaries are all family members.

A decedent's aunts, uncles, and cousins do not qualify as family members. A decedent's nieces or nephews, however, do qualify as family members.

A "qualified heir" means a family member who acquired qualified property upon the death of the decedent.

Describe the trade or business, including the type of industry, and enter the six-digit NAICS code that best describes the business activities. To determine the appropriate NAICS code, go to <http://www.census.gov/eos/www/naics/index.html>. Enter a keyword to search the most recent NAICS list.

If a family member does not maintain the 2a classification for the qualified property for the farm property deduction or a family member does not materially participate in the operation of the trade or business for the small business property deduction during the three-year period following decedent's death, a recapture tax will be imposed.

If the qualified heirs dispose of any interest in the qualified property other than to a family member during the three years following the decedent's death, a recapture tax will be imposed.

The recapture tax is equal to 16% of the amount deducted by this election from the Minnesota adjusted taxable estate. The recapture tax and return are due no later than six months from the date of the disqualifying cessation of the trade or business or the disqualifying disposition of the qualified property.

(M.S. 291.03, subd. 11)

If the estate answers "no" to any of the questions in Part 3, stop here: the estate is not eligible to claim the small business or farm property deduction. If the estate answers "yes" to all questions in Part 3, the estate may be eligible to claim the small business or farm property deduction. Continue to Part 4.

Part 4 – Agreement

To make a valid election, the agreement must be completed and signed by each and every qualified heir who acquired the qualified property upon the death of the decedent. In addition, the executor of the estate must sign the agreement on behalf of the estate.

Parts 5 and 6 – Deduction Calculation

Value of Assets. Complete section 1 by entering a description of each asset that is elected to be deducted as qualifying property from the decedent's Minnesota adjusted taxable estate. Enter the schedule and item number from the federal Form 706 where the asset is reported. Then enter the fair market value of the asset at the valuation date. This is the value included in the Federal gross estate. If the estate is electing to deduct only a portion of an asset reported on the federal Form 706, enter the appropriate valuation percentage that qualifies for the deduction. Subtotal all amounts as line 1.

Non-eligible Property. For qualified small business property, complete section 2 by entering a description of any cash, cash equivalents, publicly traded securities, or assets not used in the operation of the trade or business. Cash equivalents are short-term securities that are liquid enough to be considered equivalent to cash. Examples include negotiable instruments, money market holdings, short-term government bonds or Treasury bills, marketable securities, commercial paper, and other like items. For assets entered above in section 1 consisting of shares of stock or other ownership interests in a business entity, the amount of cash, cash equivalents, publically traded securities, or assets not used in the operation of the trade or business held by the corporation or business entity must be entered in section 2 in proportion to the decedent's share of ownership of the corporation or business entity on the date of death.

For qualified farm property, complete section 2 by entering a description of any property other than class 2a agricultural land (real property) or non-homestead property included in the values entered above in section 1.

Subtotal all amounts as line 2.

Allowable Deductions. Complete section 3 by entering a description of the Federal allowable deductions that are related to the assets entered above in section 1, including:

- marital deduction,
- mortgages and liens held against the qualifying property,
- property tax payable on the qualifying property,
- expenses and costs taken as a deduction used to preserve the qualifying property, and
- appraisal fees.

Enter the schedule and item number from the federal Form 706 where the allowable deduction is reported. Subtotal all amounts as line 3.
